ANNUAL DAY FOR CLEANING OF BIG Y IS SET BY COUNCIL

Junior and Sophs will work on Athletic Field While Other Classes go to the Y.

The Big Y on the mountain camp of Provo will receive its annual whitewashing Friday, March 26. Work will be done on Mason Hill the same day.

According to present plans, Freshmen and Seniors will work on Athletic Field while the sophomores and juniors will remain to do work on the campus. Mrs. T. H. Jones, Sophs' advisor, will be in charge of the work on the field, and Clarence Phillips will have charge of the campus work.

Although detailed plans have not been completed, "Y" Day will be carried out this year much the same as in other years. Lunch will be furnished by girls of the domestic science class. A dance in the evening will be the closing event of the day.

Spring whitewashing of the "Y" building is a tradition at every act of the university. In recent years it has been a tradition to extend it materially to the students working on the campus. "Y" Day has been a time of great activity as one of the most eventful days of the year. Besides are never in order and staffers are always reconstructing "Y" Day. It is the one day when everyone has an opportunity to do his bit for the institution. No one is exempt from the duty of cleaning the building. Faculty members will also be in order and staffers are always recon-

Junior Vodie Is Declared To Be High Class Affair.

Those students who sufficiently survived the examinations to venture into the Junior Vodie were met with a stimulus sufficient to carry them well into the spring quarter.

Vodie was a success both in the eyes of the students and the faculty, and those being entertained.

THE ACTIVE STUDENT

Within another month, the political pot will be boiling hot. The banners will be flung giving a long list of activities in which the favorite candidates have participated. These students will be flattered to the skies because they have engaged in practically every activity on the campus. What does it all mean?

We cannot have our pie and eat it, and it simply means that the time represented in that list of activities is just that, much time taken from "better" studies. It means that while the student came here primarily to secure education and training in a certain line, he has become side-tracked into a most alluring field—student activities.

The large majority of these active students have come through their classes it is true, but how? The students, if they may be called such in the strict sense of the word, might rather say that they have passed a subject as a real scholar. They have not spent in enough time in diligent study to thoroughly master the material at hand and make it a part of themselves.

Speaking of this type of student, the Cornell Sun says, "as sure as fate, he will either fade into oblivion afterward or become a bond salesman. He has blossomed early and wilted in the hot-house of student activity." This indeed does describe the life of many of our most prominent students of past years. Why? It is simply because, in going through school these scolded leaders did not get right down to the "brass tacks" of their subjects. They merely took a "mastering" and for a foundation on which to build, a mastering is little better than the shifting sand structure of the Master's parable.

The Toledo editor says it is a "fifty-fifty proposition." The student who specializes scholastically sacrifices many advantages that might be gained from practice in contrast to the theoretical book education and the activities man or woman sacrifices some useful theory for practice.

Right he is, but just how great are the "advantages" that might be gained from practice?

True the student comes to college for social as well as scholastic reasons, and we say get into perhaps one or two activities. Of the students who spend many an hour in some important rehearsal or doing some great deed for the student body when they should be in the library, we ask, has their time been well spent?

BUZZING

Now that the Spring quarter has begun, it might be well to make public announcement of the new course that is being added to the curriculum of the University. It is a course in "buzzing." Already investigation reveals that there are some snobs who bid fair to lead the class. Upper and lower division credit will be given. The class will be under the direction of which this is enough foolishness to get down to the point. Such activities as time taking of the thrilling story Johnny Jimmie relating his latest second-hand original story to Mary and Lizelle, or playful Anne and Steve cutting out paper dolls and dresses, are things that should be carried out at some time than in a B. U. devotional hour—if it is possible for the children to do so.

Geek—Have you ever been in Arkoth—That's my business!

Geek—Well, how's business?

From Other Pens

The Exceptional Student And "Activities"

There are dispositions and dispositions in the life of the college student, but perhaps the most pathetic is the disposition of the abilities of the exceptional individual in a mass of petty and unimportant undercurrents.

He becomes a member of a dozen clubs and societies, he connects himself with the better organizations, he plunges into the undergraduate world, not necessarily because he is imbued with the desire to be a social leader, but because he feels it his duty to appear and to be seen about. He develops poise, ease, grace. He engages in conversation with other or chooses without embarrassment, to present to himself or these appendages of his education. He carries out well enough whatever is entrusted to him, but he never does so with distinction or with more than a faint ability.

In other words, he develops a facile cleverness so that he does everything well but nothing thoroughly. At worst of all, this is markedly true of his classroom work. He turns in at the end of his university career an average record—one of which he need not be at all ashamed if he were only an average individual. But he is a man of whom we speak is capable of far more and is therefore guilty of gross perversion of his abilities.

Because of his natural ability to adapt himself to anything which may come his hands he has accumulated a multitude of tasks possibly. He has obtained an easy proficiency either in conversation, in writing, or in thinking. But as sure as fate, he either fades into oblivion afterward or becomes a bond salesman. He has blossomed early and wilted in the hot-house of student activity.

IGNATZ'S PHILOSOPHY

ODE TO SPRING

I have closed the furnace door till old winter does come back, and the flies on the floor means the heading back. There are countless signs of old, more than a hundred dollar roll, gone through that furnace door, every summer days will pass we shall mow a lot of grass, we we seek the final man's store. On a friendly hand a hunger which is never out of sight, till it fills it bursts, and it is the appetite, when the wind is cold and grey and the snow has come to stay, we must feed this hungry little, all the day and the night we must feed it every day, we must feed it every day, we must need for flour, I have plowed my overcoat, put a mortgage on the land, that the hungry growling furnace, might have its mouth full. I have closed that furnace door for winter now is over, again has come at last to stay, and we'll show you no more.

WEEKLY SONG HIT

NOW THAT WINTER IS NEARLY GONE, WILL SUMMER SPRING AND FALL?

A patient hen sat all the day On twelve eggs, hidden in the hay. They hatched out ducks with webbed feet. Poor hen, she didn't know her eggs.

Ignatz says people are so, that they never can carry a tune.

Sleepy eye—very thin. Pretty girl—tumble in. Gave a short—when she sank. Boy on bank—heard her voice. Flunked right in—helped her out. Now let's hear her sing. But she had to break the ice.

The girl who thinks that no man is good enough for her may be right, but she is surely left.

OUR DUMB IGNATZ THINKS A STAG PARTY IS AN ANIMAL SOCIAL.

DEFINITIONS WE SHOULD KNOW

LOVE—is misery, sweetened with imagination, edited with tears, spiced with doubt, flavored with novelty, and swallowed with your eyes shut.

BACHELOR OF ARTS—One who makes love to a lot of women, and yet has the art of retaining a bachelor.

CITY—Any place where men have built a jail, a pool hall, a saloon, a morgue, a church, a hospital, and laid out a cemetery—beside a center of life.

2. A herding region; any part of the earth where ignorance and stupidity integrate, agglutinate and breed.

CURIOUSITY—A gift that swallows God, kills creed, matters, worlds, philosophies.

2. At lowest, the instinct that bounces at up to prep over our neighbor's transom, symbolized by a knock-knock.

DOGMA—A hard substance that forms in a man's brain.

Craft Hart says, "Student body, you know the old saying, 'If you want a thing done well do it yourself.' If you want to make a good showing in the coming track and field competition, you will have to push it yourself." Up to date only two or fifteen men have been doing any consistent training in preparation for the coming meets. Compare this with the U. of U. who have from sixty to seventy men out training every night. Manager Lake states, "Just as soon as a man shows any ability in the preliminary training, track shoes and equipment will be handed out."

April 15 is the day set for the first spring cross country race. The course will be only two and a half miles long. Coach Hart says, "A regular sweater will be given to the winner of the race. It is an ideal race to condition men for the quarter mile and half mile races. In the quarter mile races, and it is desired that all men who have ability in these distances will compete."

The first cross-country track meet will be held on April 16th, at 8 o'clock. It is expected that these races will be given to winners of events held at the contest of the past week. The chances themselves will be evened out by the addition to the athletes who will compete."

Now that the basketball season is over it seems to be time for Coach Richards to get the lads in preparation for the two big events. Coach Richards was moved out of first place in two races run by Northern U. A. C. last year, and is out for the second year. Coach Richards says he feels good enough to clinch an eighth of a mile of his last one hundred yard record which he set last year. Coach Richards says he is not sure if he can beat his record, but he is sure he can beat the record of the last year. Coach Richards says he is not sure if he can beat his record, but he is sure he can beat the record of the last year.

Aggies Tramp On Eastern Division
Champs For Title

The Utah Aggies succeeded in taking a clean sweep of the three games in Logan with Colorado. Teachers on March 11, 12, 13, thereby establishing themselves as the 1925 Rocky Mountain champions.

The first game Thursday night was a good game in spite of the final score, 30 to 24. The Teachers' defense was rather strong, holding the Aggie forwards, Hawley and Nelson, to two baskets each. Worthington did the best playing for the Teachers' while Pyle played best for Colorado.

The second game the Aggies triumphed by a score of 40 to 22. In this game the little no fluster, started for the Aggies, playing his usual basket. Shooting was exceptional. Again Pyle played wonderful ball for the Teachers. In the first period of the game, the Aggie Meteor played his second string men who held the eastern winners to a 13 to 9 score. In the second half the Teachers went in and did some excellent play, drawing away from the Colorado an 8 to 7 win.

The Inter-mountain wrestling tournament will be held on March 20th and 27th in Salt Lake City. All the members of the Brigham Young University wrestling team are eligible and several have decided to compete.
